The map illustrates the layout of the Oreo factory floor, organized into a grid of production lines. Each line is represented by a row of rectangular blocks, each containing a UPC code and a product name. The blocks are color-coded: red for most product lines, black for some, and white for others. The layout is divided into sections by vertical and horizontal lines, with each section labeled with a 'Height' value (e.g., 10.1, 10.2, 10.3). The products shown include various Oreo flavors and sizes, such as Double Stuf, Original, Fudge Brownie, and others. The map is a detailed representation of the factory's production area, showing the flow of production from left to right.
